Family Day finds future firefighter

One-year-old Oakton Koe could very well be a future firefighter as he shares a special moment with a firefighter and a young child during Family Day activities at the Aspen Waste Management facility. There was an excellent turnout to all three venues in Drayton Valley. There were so many families at the pool shortly after 1 p.m. there was even a line-up out the door.

Building purchased for animal care facility

Minerva Lullia
Western Review

The Town of Drayton Valley has purchased a building on 53 Ave. for the purposes of an animal care facility.

The former Associated Ambulance building in Drayton Valley will be the new home of animal control and shelter operations.

The building will be used for treatment, boarding or grooming of animals and for impounding and quarantine facilities but would not include sale of animals.

Drayton Valley Town Chief Administrative Officer Dwight Dibben said a number of factors were considered in purchasing the building including its location and any operator would be able to use it to shelter animals along with having office space.

Following the finalization of the purchase, a request for proposals for animal control services will be issued. The process will look to find a person, group or organization to utilize the new facility for temporary housing and care of found and apprehended animals.

Dibben said the Town will be seeking interested parties such as operators and contractors to come forward.

"It doesn't preclude anyone from expressing an interest and talking about what kind of services they could offer in this space. The operations would be different from what Cause for Critics' services and activities are currently, but that would not preclude them from also expressing an interest," said Dibben.

Around spring 2015 both the Town and Cause for Critics were looking at various options to care for animals, including building an animal shelter.

The Western Review was told then that the Town would be building a shelter while Cause for Critics would be fundraising for work on the inside of the building. That previous plan has been cancelled and Dibben confirmed that the Town has chosen to buy a building and hire contractors externally and it doesn't preclude anyone from joining in, including the local animal shelter.

TIM HORTONS AND A LIQUOR STORE COMING UP
Town of Drayton Valley will have more businesses opening up including another Tim Hortons and a liquor store.

According to planning and development officers for the Town of Drayton Valley a Shell gas station, a car wash and a Tim Hortons will open up on 50 Ave. in town.

The Town also confirmed that a liquor store will be opening up in the south end of the town around the Clean Energy Technology Centre (CETC) area.

REGIONAL AGREEMENT
The Town of Drayton Valley, Brexau County and the Village of Brexau have been working together to develop a plan and agreement that will enable the town to work together in case of any major incidents or crisis.

The Regional Agreement Municipal Preparedness Plan (RAMPP) and agreement provides a foundation and framework in which all three municipalities can work together to mitigate any type of disaster that may occur and could affect all three or one of the municipalities.

Town council carried a motion to approve the agreement at the Town council meeting on Feb. 17.

Drayton Valley/Brexau County Fire Services chief Tom Thomson said other municipalities are approaching him because the agreement is unique to the area.

According to the plan, all three municipalities participating in the agreement will support and assist each other when requested in case of any emergency or a disaster.

GRANTS FOR EVENTS
Drayton Valley Town council voted in favour of giving out grants to various upcoming events in the area.

"We know the community is facing a difficult time and I am pleased the town is making these contributions," said Councillor Deb Bosser.

Council voted in favour of giving out $500 each to the Pembina Nordic Ski Club for its annual Eagle Point Event, Drayton Valley Figure Skating Club for its 61st annual Skating on Ice Show, Drayton Valley Minor Hockey for its Preview Provincial Tournament and Brexau Gymnastics Club for Fun Day.

The upcoming "I AM EMPLOYED" conference put together by Ann EREZ conference put together by Ann EREZ received $750 while Healthy Communities Coalition's Workplace Wellness Conference received $1,000.

NASIP PROVINCIALS
The National Academy in the Schools Program (NASIP) provincial tournament is coming back to Drayton Valley this year in April.

Representatives from Safair Club International (SCI) Drayton Valley Club and Brexau Bowditchers Archery Club were at the Town council meeting to let council know they have applied for the community grant for the event and they were hoping it would get support from council.

Last year, about 800 archery participants from all across Alberta and this year about 1,000 archers are expected at the event.

World Day of Prayer set for March 4 in Drayton

Special to the Western Review

World Day of Prayer 2016 is written by the World Day of Prayer Committee of Cuba. "Receive children, Receive me," Christian Women in Socialist Cuba. The national flower of Cuba is the white hollyhock. Cuban women have used the flower, not only as an adornment for their hair, but also to transmit messages during liberation wars and as a sign of their being Cuban. There can be no better emblem for the 2016 World Day of Prayer service written by the World Day of Prayer committee of Cuba. The service transmits their witness and experience of being Cuban and Christian, even when their faith meant isolation within the country they love.

With the triumph of the Revolution, a trade embargo by the United States brought Cuba economic isolation and material scarcity. Within Cuba a similar isolation formed around people of faith in the officially atheist state. Now the embargo is lifting, but uncertainty remains for the Cuban people. What can these women tell the rest of the world about how faith endures in a secular world, of material and social challenges, and of hope?

On March 4, Christians in more than 170 countries and in 2,000 communities across Canada will gather to learn about, pray for and celebrate Cuba in solidarity with the women of Cuba through the World Day of Prayer. Please join us and invite your friends and family to attend the World Day of Prayer 2016.

The local World Day of Prayer service will be held at Drayton Valley United Church, 5209 48 St. on Friday March 4, beginning at 7 p.m. For more information about this event, contact Carol Ulmer at 542-3872.

In Canada, the World Day of Prayer is co-ordinated by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada, and has its roots in an ecumenical day of prayer organized by women in Canada and the United States in 1920.

Empowerment conference on March 5; ticket sales have now been extended

Cathy Westman

Western Review

In celebration of International Women's Day, Drayton Valley will be hosting its first annual "I Am Empowered" mother/daughter/woman's conference on March 5 at the new Clean Energy Technology Centre.

The one day conference will focus on strengthening the bond between mothers and daughters and enhancing self-esteem, self confidence and body image. International speaker and Dove self-esteem ambassador Molly Burke will educate and motivate as the conference's guest speaker.

"It's a privilege to have Molly here. She has spoken at We Day. She has been interviewed by Larry King. This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to hear Molly speak," said Chris Lees, with Aim For Success.

At just four years old, Molly Burke's world became a little bit darker after being diagnosed with retinitis pigmentosa, a rare retinal disease causing loss of vision. Despite this, she began bringing light into the lives of others. At the age of five, she was an ambassador for the Foundation Fighting Blindness Canada. Since then, she has inspired thousands with her story. She encourages others to let go of the past and look to the future with bright eyes and a positive outlook. Her goal is to educate, motivate and inspire others to find peace, happiness and achieve their goals, even in the darkest days.

Although the conference is primarily aimed at mothers and daughters, any women from 10 to 100 years young are invited to attend. If there are no moms or daughters around, attendees can bring other female family or friends along.

"The biggest issue is making sure we get people to the conference. The price ($30) is reflective of the economy, not the actual cost of the conference. We would like to get as many local and regional mothers and daughters as we can. We want them to take a day to be with their daughters; to spend an entire day connecting with hailing from Camrose, Red Deer, Whitecourt and Medicine Hat. Topics range from a vocal performance workshop led by country singer Kristy Feniak of Drayton Valley, partner and laughter yoga to enhancing your life with colour.

"This conference is focusing on reshaping girls' and women's perception of themselves and in turn helping them to discover what real beauty is. Together, mothers, daughters, caregivers and mentors will build a stronger, more resilient and self-confident community," added Lees.

Ticket sales for the event have been extended and are still available at Value Drug Mart in Drayton Valley and Aim for Success.

Alternative energy discussions continue

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

Brzeau County councillors discussed plans to come up with an alternative energy plan at the council meeting on Feb. 16.

"Is everyone on board with the solar program? How much do we want to spend? I am getting calls about this," said Coun. Shirley Mahan.

At a special meeting on Feb. 9, council discussed various options and asked administration to assess the viability and cost for solar panels on all County buildings and facilities, and to develop data to be used in applications to the Alberta Municipal Solar Program.

Coun. Marc Gressler said he wants the administration to come back with the details on Feb. 26 so that council can move forward.

Coun. Anthony Heinrich did not want to wait until then and wanted council to discuss a figure and put it out in the community.

"We need to put a number (dollar figure) out there that the county will support. It will be a starting point letting people know this is what we will put in and they can go ahead and do what they want," he said.

Heinrich wanted a dollar figure out so county citizens know what the county is willing to put out.

A motion was carried to table the conversation until Feb. 26 when administration brings forward information.

NATIONAL ARCHERY SCHOOL PROGRAM

Representatives from Safari Club International (SCI) Drayton Valley Club and Brzeau Bowbenders Archery Club were at the Brzeau County council meeting to ask for funding for an upcoming provincial archery competition to be hosted in Drayton Valley.

Both members let the council know about the success of the tournament last year with students participating from schools both in Drayton Valley and Brzeau County and other parts of Alberta.

The representatives were hoping for about $5,000 from the county.

"Last year, students couldn't stay in the community. Only native students stayed last year," said Leonard Claffey from the Brzeau Bowbenders Archery Club while asking for assistance with funding.

About 1,000 archers are expected at the event this year in April.

The presentation was received for information and no decision was made.

BRETTON FCSS
Brzeau County council discussed their involvement in the Bretton FCSS board.

Currently, the county funds the board but does not have any representation on it. The board has an FCSS director and two Bretton council members and meets quarterly.

Coun. Marc Gressler and Rita Moir said a county councillor can represent the county on the board.

Berrie Bart Guyon said he would rather not have to increase the number of people on the board.

"Take one member out and put another member in," said Guyon.

Council members also asked about how much funding the board gets from the county.

A motion was carried to table a decision until March 1 when the board makes a presentation for the county.

DRAYTON VALLEY PRO RODEO
A motion was passed to provide $1,000 funding and in-kind support of about $1,500 for the second annual Drayton Valley Pro Rodeo.

The Drayton Valley Pro Rodeo Society is hosting the event at the end of April at the Omniplex.

The in-kind support is to supply and haul sand to the Omniplex.

Why not Drayton Valley?

Television viewers may have recently watched news about Leduc getting a CT scanner for their hospital. There was mention of one for Drayton Valley, but only during a 15-second news clip that followed the main announcement.

According to the news report on Global TV, Leduc's community hospital medical director, Dr. Bob Steward, reported the facility was transporting over 600 patients requiring CT scans to Edmonton.

The report indicated the Foundation also has a five-year plan to raise money to pay for the equipment. Last April, Black Gold Health Foundation launched a campaign to raise $12.5 million to purchase the scanner. Alberta Health Services will cover the operational and staffing costs.

Let's compare this information with Drayton Valley's request for a CT scanner.

According to information provided by the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation, over 1,000 patients are sent outside of the town and county each year for CT scans. Adding up the cost of transportation over a five-year period works out to one million dollars. The total cost of a CT scanner for Drayton Valley is $1.8 million. A scanner will reduce ambulance transfers, patient travel and increase access to routine CT exams. State of the art equipment in the hospital will assist in the recruitment and retention of physicians in the rural community. Drayton Valley Hospital currently has two Medical Radiation technologists on staff to operate the CT scanner. The Health Services Foundation continues to raise funds to cover the entire cost.

Through fundraising and donations, over $900,000 of that money has already been raised since fundraising began in June of 2014 with a Penn West sponsored golf tournament. The second year, (in 2015), the event raised $61,567.88. Other donations came from the following:

Drayton Valley Ford Drive 4U, which donated $50 to the scanner campaign for every test drive made by residents; Big West Dodge donated $100 for every vehicle sold; a two-night Gala Festival brought in a tremendous amount of money; the Rod Wilson Memorial Bull Ride event donated $3,000; Pembina Pipeline wrote a cheque for $20,335.45; Knights of Columbus contributed $2,000; Weyerhaeuser donated $25,000; Seabird Bull Team held a tournament that raised $1,000; the Turner Foundation presented a $30,000 cheque and country singer Gord Bamford performed in a charity concert that raised $5,600.

A cat lady without a cat

Tom no longer a "Cat Lady"

My blue-eyed furry friend companion of nine years traveled over the rainbow bridge on February 10th after the veterinarian discovered a splenic mass in her chest that was pressing on her heart and lungs. He suggested she be put to sleep immediately and I agreed.

I think the official name for the man was feline lymphoma. This illness must have crept up on her slowly because she really didn't exhibit many outward symptoms except for shallow abdominal breathing. Until her last breath, she was still jumping off the counter in the examination room, and she scratched both the vet and me while we were trying to hold her still. In the end, she left this world as quietly as when she first came into my life.

She was a rescue cat from an animal sanctuary near Lamont, which sustained a building fire only one morning. I'm sure she came close to losing one of her nine lives at that point, but she survived. She was transferred to the adoption centre at the Pet-

Smart store on 50th Street in Edmonton and that is where I

Cathy's Comments
Cathy Westman

first saw her, peeking out of her cage with those ocean blue eyes. Over the years I learned she had an affinity for sliced meat, potato salad and chicken, as well as the usual dry and wet cat food. And let's not forget all the cat treats she really enjoyed.

She was also an excellent mouse catcher as I found out, when a house I was sharing was over-run with seven of the little furry creatures. She caught four of them while the traps did it while the traps did it rest, and in typical cat

fashion, played with one mouse for half an hour before it ran off somewhere.

I was fortunate to have her in my life for those nine years. As my son pointed out, I gave a rescue cat nine good years of life. I don't, but have no regrets. I don't, but know I will grieve for her for a very long time.

After her passing, I was given a folder of information about the grieving process.

It suggested that people who are grieving should hug something furry, even if it's a stuffed animal. I took the suggestion but did one better. I went to the Cause for Critters shelter here in Drayton Valley and hugged seven kittens a few days after my cat's passing and hugged them all again a week later.

Despite the scratches on my hands, stomach, neck and back, they are becoming quite therapeutic for me, but I know it's still going to take some time before I can give one of them a forever home.

Rest in peace, Lily. You will be missed.

Good fences make good neighbours

Every one of us instinctively knows about fences. We trust fences. They give us a sense of stability and predictability. Not only do they define the rules, they also tell us that the rules apply to everybody.

The truth is that we need fences because we need boundaries. Civilization relies on boundaries. Like fences, they tell us where our own authority (or permission to act) stops and starts, and where the other person's authority stops and starts. Where you have authority, your neighbour does not. And where your neighbour has authority, you do not.

Boundaries are equally important—in fact essential—when it comes to governing. In Canada, there are boundaries (legal fences) between the authority of the federal government, the authority of the provincial government, and the authority of a mayor or city government.

The federal government has authority over things like currency, national defense, and interprovincial transportation of resources. Provincial governments have authority over education, municipalities, and property law. Mayors and city governments have authority over sewer systems, city streets, and subdivision development.

Recently, provincial governments and big city mayors have been speaking out against interprovincial pipeline construction. Many Albertans have responded by calling the whole matter of equalization into question. But the problem is bigger than equalization.

According to University of Saskatchewan law professor Dwight Newman, the Supreme Court determined in 1954 that provincial governments cannot interfere with the federal government's sole authority over interprovincial pipelines. Newman even points to legal provisions which say that provinces must make provincial Crown land available for federally approved interprovincial pipelines. He adds that the City of Burnaby's notion that it can interfere with the federally regulated Kinder Morgan pipeline is absurd.

The same applies to the mayor of Montreal. In law there is an insurmountable fence—a legal Berlin Wall—between Montreal's mayor and any decisions about a federally regulated interprovincial pipeline.

Currently, interprovincial pipeline construction is professionally and independently approved and approved by the National Energy Board (NEB)—an agent of the federal government that wields parliamentary authority. The NEB was created after the defeat of the most famous parliamentary confrontation ever known as the Great Pipeline Debate of 1956.

During the Great Pipeline Debate, MPs fought over the proposed route and financing of the first Trans-Canada Pipeline. Parliament turned to bedlam, leading to the defeat of the federal government of Louis St. Laurent. Recognizing that Parliament could never get through that again, Laurent's successor, John Diefenbaker, created the National Energy Board.

Today, Justin Trudeau wants to change the way interprovincial pipeline construction will be approved. He wants First Nations governments to be part of the process, which makes sense. But he also wants to pull municipal governments and anti-development lobby groups from formally into the mix, seemingly eroding the integrity of the entire system.

The above article was co-written by a small group of Official Opposition MPs who met last week, got together to talk through a legislative policy issue. As part of the process, a short commentary is compiled and then edited.

The basis of Canadian democracy and the foundation of Canada's government is rooted in the principle that the legal fences separating the powers of various governments must be respected. When individuals seek to usurp or denigrate the rightful authority of the federal government, they're not trampling on Alberta. They're trampling on the integrity of the Canadian Constitution.

As part of the process, a short commentary is compiled and then edited.

Single vehicle accident results in one fatality

Justine Khimoch
Western Review

The RCMP responded to a vehicle accident on Highway 39 on Feb. 12 at 7:30 a.m. A tanker truck travelling west-bound on Highway 39 missed a curve and ended up rolling into a creek. The driver was still alive when RCMP arrived on scene and the driver was taken out from the vehicle by EMS. Unfortunately, the driver did not make it. The driver's family was then notified. RCMP's investigations of the incident did not reveal anything suspicious.

STOLEN ITEMS
The RCMP received a call from a local company on Feb. 10 at 3:40 p.m. It was reported that when the company's employees came in the morning, they noticed that the gate was open. The surveillance video was reviewed and showed a car pull in their yard. Five men then jumped into a truck and left. A diesel tank and pump were reported stolen.

On Feb. 11 at 7:15 a.m., a resident on 40 Street in Drayton Valley called RCMP and reported that her 2012 Dodge Ram truck got broken into and two "blubs were stolen".

SMASHED WINDOWS
A complaint was received by the RCMP on Feb. 11 at 4 p.m. regarding an incident that occurred in town. A visitor from out of town parked a car overnight and had the vehicle's back window smashed. Another report of smashed windows were received by the RCMP on Feb. 13 at 10 a.m. from a local restaurant. It was reported that the windows of the two vehicles parked overnight at the restaurant's parking lot were smashed. RCMP is still investigating.

GUN COMPLAINT
On Feb. 11 at 7:15 p.m., RCMP received a gun complaint from a resident on Township road 502.

IMPAIRED DRIVER
The RCMP arrested an impaired driver on Range Road 92 on Feb. 11. A police officer observed the driver driving erratically, pulled the driver over, and noticed signs of impairment. The driver was brought back to the RCMP detachment and blew eight times the legal limit. The driver was charged and will appear in court on March 15.

COMPLAINT
On Feb. 12 at 3 p.m., RCMP received a disturbance complaint from a local hotel. Two vehicles parked at the hotel's parking lot and two people started fighting. The two people took off before police arrived on scene. RCMP were able to locate one of the parties involved and confirmed that they were having disagreements.

STOLEN TRUCK
RCMP received a call regarding a truck being stolen on Feb. 16 at 10:42 a.m. RCMP members followed the stolen vehicle and ended up in the Stony Plain area. RCMP pulled the vehicle over, arrested the driver, and changed him with stealing a vehicle.

Smoking bylaws in Drayton Valley

Mamta Lalla
Western Review

At the governance and priorities meeting on Feb. 17, Coun. Brandy Fredrickson discussed what she learned from Coalitions Connect Conference, an annual conference for Healthy Communities Coalition, that she attended recently.

The conference provided information on smoking, mental health promotion and alcohol use.

Fredrickson talked about establishing smoking mechanisms in the boundary of Drayton Valley such as in the parks. She said one of the things she heard in the conference was having smoke free parks. She gave an example that some Drayton Valley parks that usually have families and children such as the Rotary Park can either be smoke free or have smoke-free designated areas. She also said council would have to establish a way to balance things between both smokers and non-smokers and not infringe rights of anyone.

Legislative Services Coordinator Chandra Dyck and Town Chief Administrative Officer Dwight Dahlen reminded council that provincial legislation governs some of the similar rules and that administration can look into the town bylaws and compare the two.

Coun. Debra Bossett said she would like to see the current bylaws be enforced such as smoking 15 feet away from the complex entrance rule, which according to her, people do not follow. Coun. Nicole Nadeau said she was more interested in educating residents than enforcing rules in town.

"Is there a way to put signage in parks for example?" she asked. Bossett added that she would like to educate herself on both provincial legislation and town bylaws.

Wildfire season starts earlier

Justine Karamian
Western Review

The Drayton Valley/Brazeau County Fire Services would like to remind everyone that wildfire season starts March 1. According to the Government of Alberta, "fire permits will be required for any burning in the Forest Protection Area excluding campfires." Fire permits are available for free at a local Agriculture and Forestry office.

The Government of Alberta also gave tips on how to extinguish winter campfires including soaking it with water, stirring it up, and soaking it again. It is advised to have the ashes cool to the touch.

As for brush piles, make sure to spread any remaining debris and check for any hot spots. Using a bare hand to feel for heat over ash piles is a good idea. Seeing smoke or feeling heat means there is still burning beneath the surface. In that case, "douse any remaining hot spots with water and stir up the ashes."

SHED ON FIRE

The fire department responded to a shed on fire in Brazeau County on Feb. 10. When fire crews arrived on scene, they saw the shed fully involved. The fire department is still investigating but it is believed to have been caused from sparks from a grinder, which led to some material in the shop being set on fire.

FALSE ALARMS
On Feb. 11, the fire department received a fire alarm call but determined it to be a false alarm prior to arrival. A local company was doing work to the alarm system and inadvertently set it off.

STRUCTURE FIRE

The fire crews were dispatched on Feb. 12 to Range Road 73 to a structure fire. There was substantial damage to the structure. The fire department and insurance investigators are still investigating the incident and no cause has been determined as of yet. No injuries were reported.

Cathy Westman Western Review
Firefighters set up water tanks to put out a structure fire that took place north of town on February 12. No cause has been determined yet as insurance investigators are looking into it.

Cathy Westman Western Review
Several trucks that were inside the structure received smoke and heat damage but no injuries were reported during the structure fire that occurred on February 12.

Former Drayton Valley pastor talks about mental health

Shelley Ladd
Western Review

A former pastor who served in Drayton Valley is raising awareness about mental health issues particularly among the youth.

Former Valley Worship Assembly pastor Seth Shelley is now serving a church in Prince George in B.C. and is behind the movement called Skate for Life.

"There are a few instances and addiction problems that are prevalent with young people in the skate-board community. We wanted to have an opportunity to create a sense of community, a sense of belonging and a sense of responsibility for one another," said Shelley.

To raise awareness and funding, there is a local event organized in the pastor's community in B.C. and he is also selling Skate for Life shirts. The shirts say "Skate for Life" and "they will help the pastor and his team to other communities including Drayton Valley to talk to young people in schools.

"We believe that every life is important and that every person is important and every story is important and so we are trying to create an environment where signs behind the mental health do not exist and barriers that stop people to talk about their issues don't exist," said Shelley.

In his three years serving as a youth pastor in Drayton Valley, he was often seen organizing local events at the skateboard park and connecting with the youth.

"In my three years in Drayton Valley, I did have quite a bit of experience with addictions in young people and mental health issues in young people, and it's no different in any community. It's just a lot of times, it's not talked about," he said.

The pastor would like to travel to Drayton Valley or share resources with anyone who would be willing to support mental health awareness.

"I would love to travel and get the message out there or support other people who have similar aspirations. I think part of breaking down the stigma is motivating and equipping and mobilizing people to take their stories and experiences and make their skill sets and use those to have an impact on the community," he said.

Editorial: Why not Drayton Valley?

Over and above the above mentioned donations, there were so many more donations over the past year from businesses and individuals they could not be listed, but they can be found on the CFAV website.

In February of last year, then Alberta Health Minister Stephen Mandel visited Drayton Valley and the hospital room where the CT scanner is to be installed. At the time he committed $500,000 to the campaign with consideration for further funding for renovation purposes which would include lining the walls of the room with protective lead.

The new Health Minister, Sarah Hoffman, will not honour Mandel's previous commitment, so stakeholders have just written another letter to the new minister requesting funding.

The question that begs to be answered is "Why not a scanner for Drayton Valley?"

Clearly, the amount of fundraising that has been done to date indicates the community's commitment toward the project. Borrowing money appears to be risky with the downturn in the economy however, the Drayton Valley community has carried on with fundraising.

The first letter sent to the Health Ministers produced no results and that's why they're sending her another.

Perhaps the community as a whole can show their solidarity one more time by writing individual letters to the Minister.

There is power in numbers.

Drayton Valley Triathlon volunteers needed

Justine Kinnison
Western Review

The Drayton Valley Triathlon committee is looking for 100 volunteers to help out with the fifth annual Drayton Valley Triathlon. The triathlon is set to take place on May 7.

Individuals 16 and older who want to lend a helping hand are encouraged to apply as volunteers for the event.

"They will be helping with either the swim, run, or bike portion or they can help out with setting up before the event or taking down afterwards. There are a lot of fun jobs at the finish line, as well," said Drayton Valley Triathlon race director Sharon Oakley. "If they are going to be out directing traffic, they have to be 16 years or older. Other than that, the only requirement is lots of enthusiasm and having a few hours to spare on Saturday morning."

Time commitment from volunteers is minimal as there is only one short meeting prior to the event.

The ones that are out directing traffic will have a short training session. Otherwise, there will be one small meeting for all volunteers to attend," Oakley said.

"They will happen shortly before or even morning of the event, usually either on Friday night or Saturday morning."

The triathlon committee is also in need of a volunteer coordinator.

"This person will coordinate the 100 volunteers that we are looking for," said Drayton Valley Triathlon committee member and Total Works Fitness Centre manager Leah Balguy.

Anyone interested in the volunteer coordinator position or becoming a volunteer can e-mail csadmin@draytonvalley.ca. Oakley encourages everyone in the community to support this event not just as volunteers but as participants.

"It is a wonderful sport. It is great for people's fitness," she said. "It is great for children to learn different sports, especially when they are young, so they are most likely to stay fit and have things to do as they get older to keep them healthy."

H.W. PICKUP'S BLOOMSDAY RUN A GO

At the Feb. 16 WRSD board meeting, WRSD board members gave final approval to H.W. Pickup Junior High School's out of the country trip from April 28 to May 2. A total of 40 students from Grades 7 to 9 who are participating in the Bloomsday Run 2016 will be going to Spokane, Washington. H.W. Pickup has been participating in the run annually since 1991. The Bloomsday Run is considered "one of the most prestigious races in North America."

At the Feb. 16 Wild Rose School Division (WRSD) board meeting, board members reviewed and discussed the Policy 20 draft. Policy 20 talks about providing a "welcoming, caring, respectful, and safe learning and working environment." It is stated in the Policy 20 draft that "all individuals within the division have the right to work and learn in settings that promote equality of opportunity, dignity, and respect regardless of race, age, ancestry, place of origin, colour, religious beliefs, gender, gender identity, gender expression, physical or mental disability, marital status, family status, socioeconomic status, and sexual orientation." Input from the Drayton Christian School Society delegates were also listened to by board members and have been taken into consideration as the board continues to study the Policy 20 draft.

ELDORADO SCHOOL TO CELEBRATE 100 YEARS

WRSD Superintendent Brad Volkman informed WRSD board of trustees about Eldorado's celebration plans for its 100th anniversary. Volkman said the celebration will be on May 7 and will include "school tours, open houses, formal program, and strawberry shortcake and tea." In addition, Volkman said "the Superintendent's office will select who will officiate over the ceremony, ensure a plaque is prepared for the celebration, and send out invitations, ensuring the appropriate dignitaries are invited."

Curler curls across Canada

Mamta Lulla Western Review

A curler originally from a small town in New Brunswick stopped by in Drayton Valley recently to curl with the Drayton Valley Curling Club.

Rob Swain started curling with various clubs across Canada to raise money for his club back home in Harvey Station, New Brunswick. "I tried to figure out a way to raise money and I thought maybe I could every curling facility in New Brunswick and find a company that would sponsor me so much per game then I could raise money, but when I work in Alberta and B.C., a friend of mine said why don't you curl across the country? That's where it all started," he said.

Swain doesn't push fundraising when he gets to a club. Instead he directs everyone to his website where people can donate if they wish.

One item on his agenda for any club is a friendly game, and that's what he got when he arrived at the local club in Drayton Valley.

The Drayton Valley Curling Club who was contacted by Swain via Facebook was happy to meet with him.

"He contacted us on Facebook. He said he is here on Feb. 11 and I said sure come on out. He supports our club and promotes our club so that's free advertisement for us. Plus we get to meet a fellow curler and that's awesome!" said Miss Koebnick, Drayton Valley Curling Club president.

She was referring to Swain's way of highlighting any club he visits on his website and his Facebook page where he has followers from various different countries.

"This is great. It supports curling not just in Drayton Valley, but across Canada and the world too. It's a sport I am really passionate about and so this is great and it's a lot of fun," said Koebnick.

The money Swain raises for his club back home goes towards renovations of the club and is strictly for that.

Swain has been curling various clubs across the country for many years, with his work schedule that keeps him busy for two weeks at a time with two weeks off; he has been able to raise about $12,000 so far.

In October this year, Swain has plans to go to Banff where he will be participating in a hospital at a newly opened club.

"A lot of them are new to ice and they are slowly gaining money to build facilities so they are looking at Canada and my website to get ideas," he said.

For more information about Rob Swain go online at curlingacrosscanada.com.

On February 16, a group of stakeholders representing government and health services met at Drayton Valley, Devon MI. A Mark Smith's office, to sign the letter the group included Smith, Breton Mayor, Alan Barker, Keith Barker, Chair of the local physician recruitment and retention committee, Matt Pickett, Director of Primary Care Network, and Colleen Sekara, Funding Development Officer for Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation. Dr. Michael Peyton representing the Malone Clinic was unable to attend.

"The $850,000 needed to complete the project could be found in the savings accrued by not transporting patients out of Drayton Valley for CT services to other communities over the next five years. We believe that this scanner is a necessity that would save money while saving lives.

The people of Drayton Valley are coming together as a community to raise more funds for the CT scanner and the renovation costs to ensure the scanner will function optimally. They are also coming together as a community to request the funding to help complete this project. As a community we are asking that you, as the Minister of Health, grant our request," stated the letter.

Sekura noted the total cost to put a CT scanner in Drayton Valley Hospital is $1.8 million and the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation has raised over $800,000 for the scanner. The previous Minister of Health for the province of Alberta committed $300,000.00 to the campaign with consideration for further funding for renovation purposes. The new Minister of Health will not honour this commitment.

Cathy Weetman, Western River Colleen Sekura, Fund Development Officer for the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation, signs the letter to go to Alberta Health Minister Sarah Hoffman requesting funding for the CT scan and renovations as promised by the previous Health Minister Stephen Mandel. Looking on are (l. to r.) Breton Mayor Alan Barker, Keith Warren, chair of the physician recruitment and retention committee, Merd Pickett, Director of Drayton Valley's Primary Care Network and Drayton Valley-Devon MLA Mark Smith.

This week the whole school is engaged in the term two school-wide WRITING where students are given a picture and plan and write a story/essay based on it or inspired by it. This is the summative assessment of their term two writing work and is a similar format to what they get on the grade six PAT writing test.

The grade six enjoyed a day of skiing and snowboarding at Rabbit Hill. A fun day was had by all. Thank you to the parent volunteers who accompanied the students and teachers. See pictures on school Facebook site.

Congratulations to all of our 24 track participants who attended the Edmonton Indoor Games with their coach Mrs. Landry. The students ran well and surpassed all their practice times. Thank you to the parents who volunteered to help out on the trip and provided the great T-shirts.

It is necessary, if you are interested in attending field trips or volunteering at the school, to get your name on file with an RCMP criminal record check (get the form from the school office) and a child welfare check from the Child and Family Services office (forms at their office).

Visit us on Facebook at "Aurora Elementary School".

Bullying can also happen in workplace

Dear Working Wise
A co-worker is picking on me for no reason—telling lies about me to other people and saying that I'm not good at my job. I love my job, but I hate going to work now and I'm thinking of quitting. I don't know what to do. Should I tell the boss?

Signed Bully

Dear Bully,

Many adults think that bullying is a problem that only occurs in the schoolyard. Unfortunately, there are workplace bullies as well.

Workplace bullying is a serious problem that affects everyone in the workplace.

People who experience bullying behaviors in the workplace can have increased stress, health problems and family problems in addition to lower productivity, higher absenteeism and higher staff turnover.

Workplace bullying can be hard for others to recognize and can involve a variety of behaviours from negative gossip and unfair criticism to offensive jokes and tampering with personal belongings.

There are laws against some extreme types of bullying, including:

- Bullying someone on any grounds protected under the Alberta Human Rights Act, such as race, religion, disability, or sexual orientation (albertahumanrights.ab.ca).
- Violence or threats of violence can be investigated by Occupational Health & Safety (work.alberta.ca/ohs) and the police.

The majority of research in bullying has found that the best way to reduce bullying is to focus on promoting healthy relationships. Healthy relationships are created by promoting communication, respect, trust and support. Employers can promote healthy workplace relationships by:

- Acting leadership to model the way lead by example.
- Including zero-tolerance on bullying in their corporate values.
- Explaining to staff how bullying behavior contravenes the organization's values.

Establishing and communicating a zero-tolerance policy and procedure for reporting/resolving workplace bullying.

The Government of Alberta recognizes that bullying is a serious issue and has released Alberta's Plan for Promoting Healthy Relationships and Preventing Bullying.

The plan outlines Alberta's strategic approach to prevent bullying and includes many strategies focused on promoting healthy workplace cultures.

Government also offers resources to assist Albertans who are experiencing workplace bullying.

Energy East deserves support

Jim Eglinski
MP for Yellowknife

On Jan. 26, 2016 a motion by a Conservative MP was passed in the House of Commons to support the Canadian economy and support its development by supporting the Energy East pipeline. The project is backed by the government of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Ontario and Quebec. It will not only dramatically increase the amount of oil being sold by Canada, but also help our dependence on foreign oil. Thousands of Canadians contribute to our economy through the pipeline's success. At a time when our economy is struggling, the federal government needs to stand up for these Canadians and take a clear position in favour of Energy East. The oil and gas sector directly and indirectly employs over 360,000 people in Canada, accounting for almost 10 per cent of GDP in 2013, which means it also exports to generate $10 billion in taxes for all levels of government. Our country ranks third in the world in oil production, and it is a key part of our economic future.

Canada's oil pipelines carry over $100 billion of natural gas, oil and petroleum products safely every year. From 2011 to 2015, more than 99.99 per cent of oil transported by federally regulated pipelines was done so safely, and thanks to the previous Conservative government, companies are liable for up to $1 billion in costs and damages, irrespective of fault. Pipelines are the most environmentally responsible way to transport oil and Energy East will displace the equivalent of over 1,500 rail cars travelling the same route each day.

Approximately 700,000 barrels of oil are imported every day to refineries in Western Canada, coming from countries such as Saudi Arabia, Venezuela and Nigeria. The Energy East project would strengthen Canada's energy security by decreasing our dependence on a foreign region riddled with more human itarian economy. In my view, it makes no sense to import foreign oil while Canada is blessed with an abundance of natural resources here at home. Instead of turning ing his back on the thousands of hardworking Canadians who keep our economy moving, many of whom are now struggling to find work, Prime Minister Trudeau must show leadership and unwavering support for this project.

By supporting Energy East, we can keep our economy moving, many of whom are now struggling to find work, Prime Minister Trudeau must show leadership and unwavering support for this project.

Sudoku

Here's how it works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
